There has been considerable uncertainty as to the whereabouts of Admiral Kolchak, long time head of the All-Russian government, which was driven from Omsk and then virtually wiped out by recent Bolshevik successes in Siberia. He has variously been reported captured by Bolsheviks at Irkutsk, arrested by social revolutionists and under detention by revolting troops from his own army.

Spiker, brother of the aviator, to marry the girl. Mrs. Spiker's affidavit to the immigration authorities recited her husband and Miss Knowles formed a friendship "which ripened into something more than friendship." Votes Million To Guard Booze

Washington, Jan. 31—By a vote of 75 to 24 the House Friday appropriated $1,000,000 to guard the liquor in the 800-odd warehouses in this country, amounting to 69,200,000 gallons. During the debate it was brought out that this amount would not be sufficient unless the liquor is concentrated in a few warehouses and a heavy guard placed over the supply.

Wet advocates insisted that it would require ten times the amount appropriated, but prohibition forces quieted their fears by calling attention to the move on the part of Anti-Saloon League to raise $25,000,000 to aid the government in enforcement of prohibition. There is $2,000,000 now available for enforcement of the act, and the additional amount authorized is to be used to pay guards only.

KIRBY SMITH'S PROCLAMATION

To Kentuckians In 1862, Owned By J. R. Cox, Of This City Who Exhibits It Here

A rare and valuable historical document was brought to the Daily Register office Friday by Mr. J. R. Cox, one of Richmond's best known citizens. It is the original proclamation to the people of Kentucky as drawn in his own handwriting by Gen. Kirby Smith, commanding the Confederate cavalry forces, and issued August 29, 1862.

The proclamation is written in ink upon blue lined paper and is in a splendid state of preservation, except that it has been mouse-eaten along the edge. The proclamation was addressed to citizens of Kentucky, and reads as follows:

Kentuckians: The army of the Confederate States has again entered your territory under my command. Let no one make you believe that we come as invaders seeking to coerce your will or to exercise control over your soil. Far from it. The principle we maintain is that all government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed. I shall endeavor to enforce the strictest discipline, in order that the property of citizens and non-combatants may be protected. I shall be compelled to procure subsistence for my troops among you and this shall be paid for.

Kentuckians! We come not as invaders, but as liberators. We come to unveil the mesh which Yankee ingenuity and selfish men have woven around you. We come invoking the spirit of your resolutions of 1798. We come to arouse you from the lethargy which enshrouds your forethoughts and which forebodes the political death of your state. We come to test the truth of what we believe to be an untrue aspersion—that Kentuckians willingly join in the attempt to subjugate us and despoil us of our property, our liberty, our dearest rights. We come to strike off the chains which are being riveted upon you. We call upon you to unsheath your bright swords and joining shields with your Southern sisters to hurl back from our fair and sunny plains the Northern hordes whose cold malignity and calculating tyranny seeks to deprive us of our liberty that they may enjoy our substance. Are we deceived? Can you receive us as enemies? Or heats answer, No!

Signed, E. KIRBY SMITH, Major Gen. Commanding.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS MAY VOTE BONDS

Where Consolidations Have Been Made, If Ballard's Bill Passes—The Legislature

Representative Leonard Ballard is spending the week-end at home from Frankfort. He has just introduced a bill to permit consolidated school districts to submit the question of a bond issue for school purposes to vote of the people of the district. The bonds can be voted to secure money to build school houses, buy grounds or for other necessary appearances of an up-to-date country school. It is not believed that there will be any opposition to the measure.

Two sessions of the Legislature, each day, beginning with next week will be advocated by members who are eager to put through the administrative legislative program. Monotony of the House routine was broken by introduction of Captain Marion F. Shepherd, of McKee, one of Kentucky's war heroes. Speaker Joseph F. Bosworth, in introducing him, said that Captain Shepherd had captured more than 100 Germans, including six officers, and that he had been wounded when in many engagements.

The bill, backed by the Louisville Automobile Club and favored by the administration, abolishing the Department of Motor Vehicle and authorizing County Clerk to issue registration cards for motor vehicles, was introduced by Representative Benjamin A. Roth, of Louisville.

Favorable reports were made on the bill of Representative J. W. Johnson to fix state tax rate on chickens at 10 cents; of Representative A. M. Wash, to authorize the Sinking Fund Commission to convert the stock in the National Bank of Kentucky belonging to the school fund, and to invest in bonds of $27.50 for each share, of Representative J. M. Knott, to provide the charter of teachers' certificates and the manner of issuing them; of Representative Roy J. Cain, to provide for teaching the art of debating in public schools; of Representative Benjamin L. Cox, to provide for reading the American creed in schools once every month, and of Representative Isaac S. Mason, to provide that the Adjutant General's office be reconstructed.

The measure of Representative Homer C. McLellan to prohibit manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors, fixing a penalty and providing for forfeiture of property used in manufacture, sale or transportation of same also was favorably reported, as were those of Representative A. J. McCandless to permit coal miners to obtain an inspector of scales; of Representative Harry J. Meyers to regulate the practice of optometry and creating a board of five members appointed by Governor; of Representative McCandless to require County Tax Commissioners to visit precincts outside of the county seat in making assessments.

Bills killed by unfavorable reports are those of Representative George Ringer to regulate paying of claims for printing supplies by Jefferson Fiscal Court; of Representative Jewell S. Webb to provide for filing articles of a corporation with a capital stock of no specified value, requiring the organization tax on their total capital or valuation of $100 a share.

DIAMOND FOUND AFTER 10 YEARS

Ten years ago, Kit Crutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Crutcher, was playing with a diamond ring, the property of his grandmother, Mrs. W. I. Crutcher, at her home here. Kit was then a youngster of two years, a knickerbocker, and would hardly be identified as the husky young football player that he is today. In some way the ring was missed, and it was thought that the little fellow had lost it. Friday Mr. Crutcher recovered the jewel. Deputy Sheriff Jim Taylor of Valley View, recovered it from a negro of that section, who had bought it, it seems, from another, who had been employed in the Crutcher home 10 years ago. Confession was made as to how the ring had been obtained and Mr. Crutcher readily identifies the ring as that which had been his mother's. He is high in his praise of the fine work that Mr. Taylor did in recovering the stone, which has greatly increased in value during the decade it has been "lost."

JUROR FORCED TO SIGN MURDER VERDICT

N. E. Arnold, of the Perryville section of Boyle county, moved to Mississippi, near West Point some months ago, and from there went to Louisiana, where he was killed by a negro the other day. Many Madison men who have been in Mississippi knew Arnold. A dispatch from Monroe, La., said today:

Because a juror failed to agree to a verdict of guilty in the case of Alvin Calhoun, negro, alleged confessed slayer of N. E. Arnold, a young white farmer, a mob publicly whipped the recalcitrant juror and then dipped him in a mud hole, said reports reaching here from Tallulah, where the trial was held. After his chastisement, the report said, the mud covered juror returned to the jury room and agreed to a verdict of murder in the first degree. He then was ordered to leave town by a delegation of citizens.

MILLIONAIRE STARVING HIS STOCK

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 31—Humane Officer Lon McCarty will go before the Fayette County grand jury and ask an indictment for cruelty to animals against W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire horseman of New York, owner of Patchen-Wilkes Stock farm, near Lexington, because of the alleged conditions at the farm, where broodmares, cattle, hogs and other animals are said to be suffering from lack of nourishment. Through Mr. McCarty's efforts last month a carload of oats and other feeds were sent to Patchen-Wilkes farm, but only a limited supply of this is left now, and no more has been received, according to the humane officer.

Mr. McCarty stated he had found that several mares died from lack of nourishment and that many more were in exposure that they could be in a rundown condition. Several yearling colts were suffering so severely from exposure that they could hardly walk, he said.
